The Techniques of Seduction

In-Field Techniques

- Negging: A tactic where a man gives a backhanded compliment to lower a woman's self-esteem, making her seek validation from him.
- Demonstrating Higher Value (DHV): Sharing stories or experiences that showcase one's desirability, creating intrigue and interest.
- Social Proof: Surrounding oneself with attractive friends or people, enhancing perceived value through association.

These techniques have sparked considerable debate regarding their ethical implications and effectiveness. Critics argue that they manipulate women, while proponents claim they offer men a way to build confidence and improve their social skills.
