Understanding MLA Citation Style

The MLA style is widely used in the humanities, particularly in literature, philosophy, and the arts. It provides a standardized format for citing sources, which helps readers locate the materials you referenced in your work. Here are some key elements of the MLA citation style:

Core Elements of MLA Citations

1. Author: The person or organization responsible for the work.
2. Title of Source: The title of the work being cited. This may include books, articles, or web pages.
3. Title of Container: The larger work that contains the source (e.g., a journal or anthology).
4. Other Contributors: Individuals who contributed to the work but are not the primary author (e.g., editors).
5. Version: The edition or version of the source, if applicable.
6. Number: This element refers to volume and issue numbers for journals or series.
7. Publisher: The entity responsible for making the work available.
8. Publication Date: The date when the work was published.
9. Location: For print sources, this could be the page number. For online sources, it refers to the URL.

or DOI.

Common Sources and Their MLA Citations

To effectively practice citation, it is essential to understand how to cite different types of sources. Here are some examples of common sources:
