Understanding America Says

America Says is a television game show where contestants try to guess the most popular answers to survey questions. The format is simple yet engaging, making it a favorite among family game nights and parties. The game is designed for players to work in teams or individually, adding an element of competition.

How the Game Works

1. Players: The game can be played by any number of people, making it suitable for large gatherings or smaller get-togethers.
2. Format: Players take turns guessing answers to questions based on surveys conducted with the American public. The goal is to match the most popular answers.
3. Scoring:
 - Each correct answer earns points based on its popularity.
 - Typically, the most popular answer gives the highest score, while less popular answers yield fewer points.
4. Winning: The player or team with the highest score at the end of the game is declared the winner.
